PLANT PRICES

In the medium and high price range, plants are about 1/3 root price. This reduction has been made, not because of the value of plants, but to eliminate the need of rooted cuttings.

Potted and established green plants that have been carefully grown under proper conditions are far superior and a much more substantial and satisfactory commercial product than rooted cuttings and we want our customers to have the best, even at an additional production cost. We have installed new heating equipment, controls and air-conditioning in our propagating houses. By producing more natural and favorable climatic conditions we can produce healthier plants and protect the future vitality of the stock.
